

Ideas for Mentoring Activities

The Game of Life

The Game of Life has now been updated with new careers chosen by kids, including singer, secret agent, veterinarian, professional athlete, scientist, fashion designer, inventor, chef, race car driver, dancer, police officer, firefighter, and video game designer.

Just like in the original game, you must choose on which path you want to start: college or career. Once you've determined your path, take turns spinning the spinner and moving around the game board from the start to retirement, experiencing all sorts of unexpected adventures. Depending on where you land on the board, you might get to buy or sell a house, get married, have kids, go to night school, spin the spinner for extra money, or perform different actions from winning a beautiful forehead contest to starting a snail farm. Any time you land on or pass a Payday space, you collect your salary from the bank. Once everyone reaches the retirement space, collect any extra money for your houses, kids, and action cards; repay any loans; and count up all your cash. The wealthiest player wins.
